President's Corner

Hey Sandies,

It's been a very cold month with not much riding going on, but that's not the Sandie way, is it? A number of Sandies went to The Stagecoach Café in Stockton, AL for the 'Last Ride of the Year' where people ride from all over the country to have a buffet meal at a small restaurant in a small southern Alabama town. Why? Just to ride there. It was very cold. The Sand Dollar official 'Ride Into the New Year' where Sandies start riding before midnight and are on the road to see the new year in, went well although it was very cold and wet. Some braved the cold to ride their bikes into the New Year and some of us were in vehicles with heaters. Like I said, it was very cold and wet. We have a poker run coming up in February that will be on a Saturday. We hope it won't be cold and/or wet. And yes, I said a Saturday - something new for the Sandies. So we will need door prizes as soon as we can get them. I also want to thank AJ's for sponsoring the run, and DJ for getting AJ's to do it for us.

One more thing since the poker run is on Saturday we need ALL Sandies to come out to help set up and work the run.

You know, considering our record cold spell this past month, and how wet it's been the few times it's been above freezing lately, we still managed to get in a good bit of riding. But that's what Sand Dollar members do, isn't it?

Until the next time stay warm and dry, be safe, and spread the news as much as you can about the Hav-A-Heart poker run in February.

Robert

WE BE DO'N DINNER RIDES

The Sandies eons ago used to do one dinner ride a month, more than that and it got real thin on participation. The Dinner Ride will be a Mystery Dinner Ride. That means the Roadie leading it knows were it will end up. Now if you have certain dietary needs and/or a picky eater, just contact the Road Lead and find out just where.

A couple of remembers, we use the Sandie table method, parties of 4 or 5 or 6, don't let the restaurant folks, unless they have the space, set-up one mass table. It works better for the wait staff and kitchen. Speaking of wait staff, Sandies if you get good service and the kitchen screws up don't take it out on the wait folks. Traditionally wait people really are not in love with Motorcycle Clubs cause they are crappy tippers. We on the other hand have quite a few places where we are really appreciated, let's keep the good feelings rolling.

Chinese Barbecued Pork Char Siu

Chinese barbecued pork, also known as char siu, is a classic Cantonese dish that features succulent pork slathered in a sticky, sweet-salty glaze. Ultraflavorful bone-in pork butt is the traditional cut for this dish, so we followed suit for our homemade version, soaking the meat in a bold marinade of soy sauce, hoisin, Chinese rice wine, ginger, sesame oil, five-spice powder, and white pepper. The sugars in the marinade threatened to overbrown during roasting, so we covered the pork with foil and basted it twice with the drippings collected in the pan below. An hour or so uncovered allowed the pork to take on plenty of flavor-boosting color, and before pulling the roast from the oven we brushed it with a sticky, sweet glaze we prepared by cooking down some additional marinade mixed with extra sugar. While the pork rested, we combined the remaining glaze with the meaty pan drippings and rice vinegar to create a potent sauce for serving.

Serves 8 to 12

You can substitute dry sherry for Chinese rice wine. Let the meat rest for a full hour before serving or it will not be sufficiently tender. Pork butt roast is often labeled Boston butt in the supermarket. This recipe requires refrigerating the marinated pork for at least 12 hours or up to 24 hours before cooking (a longer time is preferable).

- 1 (6- to 8-pound) bone-in pork butt roast
- 1 $\frac{3}{4}$  cups sugar
- 1 cup soy sauce
- $\frac{3}{4}$  cup hoisin sauce
- $\frac{1}{2}$  cup Chinese rice wine or dry sherry
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup grated fresh ginger
- 2 tablespoons toasted sesame oil
- 4 garlic cloves, minced
- 2 teaspoons five-spice powder
- $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon ground white pepper
- 2 scallions, sliced thin on bias
- 2 teaspoons rice vinegar, plus extra as needed

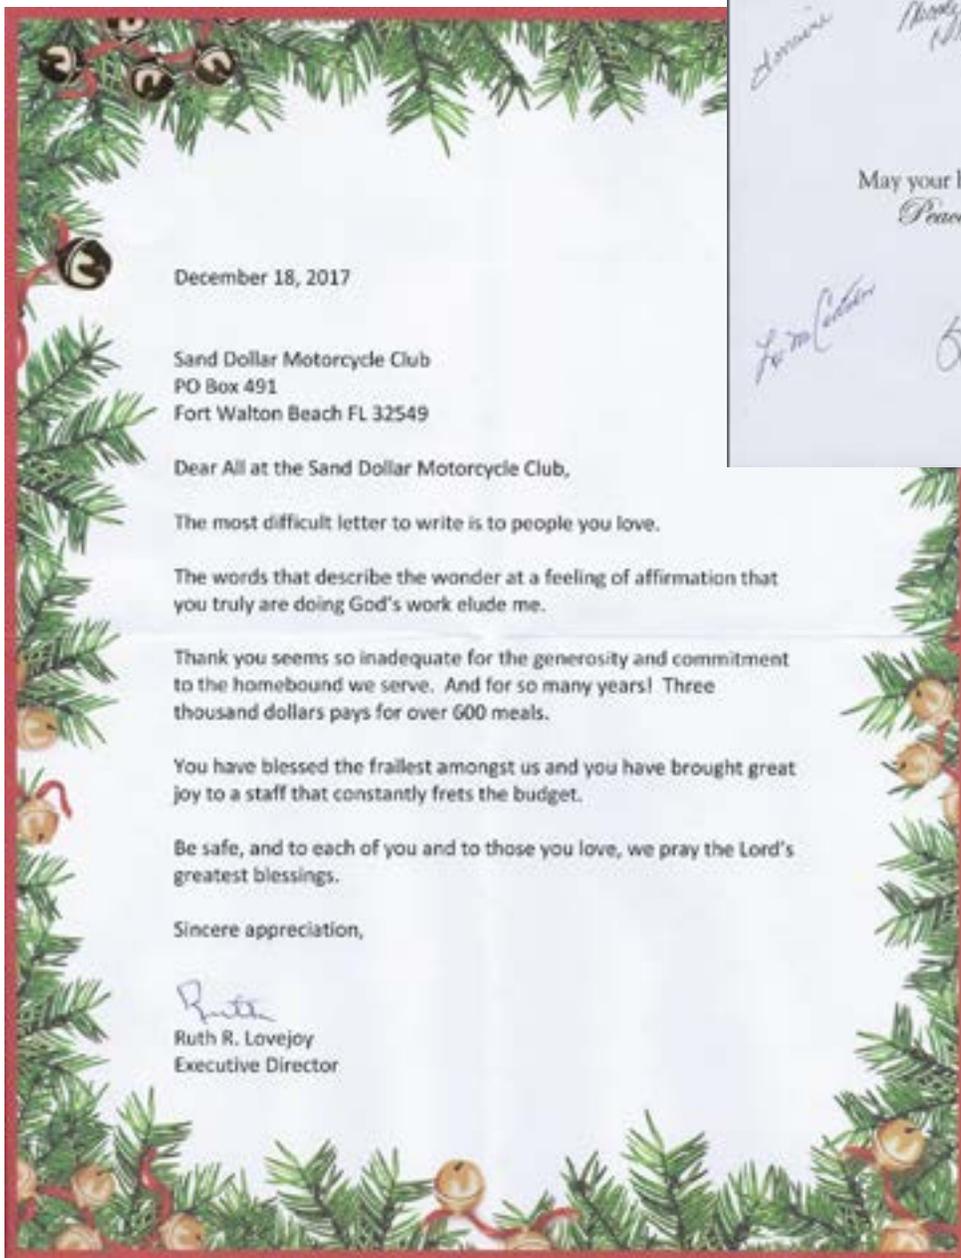

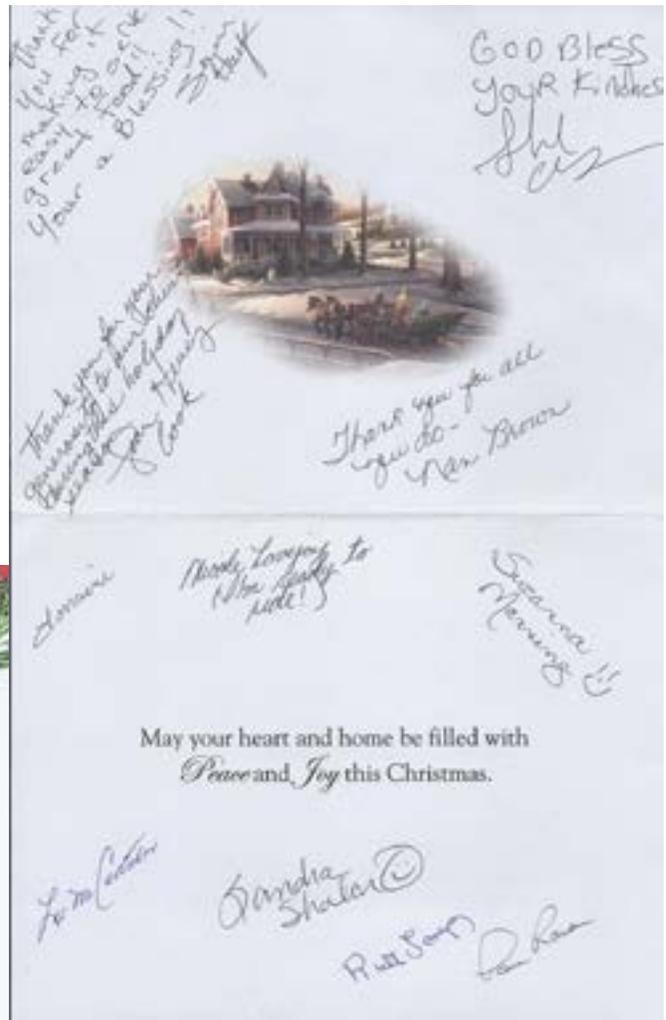

1. Using sharp knife, cut slits 1 inch apart in crosshatch pattern in fat cap of roast, being careful not to cut into meat. Whisk 1 cup sugar, soy sauce, hoisin, rice wine, ginger, oil, garlic, five-spice powder, and pepper together in bowl. Measure out and reserve 1 $\frac{1}{2}$  cups marinade. Transfer pork butt to 1-gallon zipper-lock bag and pour in remaining marinade. Press out as much air as possible from bag and seal; refrigerate roast for at least 12 hours or up to 24 hours, flipping pork butt halfway through marinating.
2. Whisk reserved marinade and remaining  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup sugar together in medium saucepan. Bring to simmer over medium heat and cook, stirring occasionally, until sugar has dissolved and glaze has thickened and measures about 2 cups, about 2 minutes.
3. Adjust oven rack to lowest position and heat oven to 325 degrees. Set V-rack in large roasting pan and spray with vegetable oil spray. Remove pork butt from marinade, letting excess drip off, and place fat side up on prepared V-rack. Add 4 cups water to pan.
4. Cover pan with aluminum foil and roast for 4 hours, basting pork butt halfway through roasting. Uncover, baste pork butt, and continue to roast until extremely tender and pork near (but not touching) bone registers 190 degrees, 1 to 2 hours. (If pan begins to smoke and sizzle, add additional water.)
5. Brush pork butt with  $\frac{1}{3}$  cup glaze and roast for 20 minutes, brushing pork with glaze twice more during roasting. Transfer pork butt to carving board and let rest for 1 hour.
6. Transfer liquid in roasting pan to fat separator and let settle for 5 minutes. Combine remaining glaze,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup defatted liquid, scallions, and vinegar in serving bowl; discard remaining liquid. Season sauce with extra vinegar to taste. Using sharp paring knife, cut around inverted T-shaped bone until it can be pulled free from pork (use clean

This card and letter from Elder Services says it all about why we as a club work so hard throughout the year.

A Hearty thanks to all of the Sandies that stepped up throughout the year to help make a Merry Christmas to those who have little or nothing throughout the year.

600 meals is a really great accomplishment. Let's see if we can make more available next Christmas!!!

Can You Remember What Was Happening 18 Years Ago? George Engler

Now why on earth would an article about Skills care what happened 18 years ago? Wait and see my little darlings, wait and see.

First, the basics: 14 Sandies came out on a beautiful Sunday to enjoy some of JoeJoe's best Skill testing exercises. Afterwards, we did 145 gorgeous miles and had a terrific lunch. It was one fantastic Skills Sunday and to really top it off - the one, the only, Steve Waxler, the Famous (and Infamous) 'Hack' was there today.

JoeJoe's Super Duper Layout was not one Super Duper but two Super Duper Layouts! (See Sandies, a "twofer" deal. Where else you gonna get a twofer deal?) That makes this a Double Up Super Duper Day. And for all that wonderfulness, attendance sure was looking a bit sparse at first. For a while there, Sam, Steven G, Sir Mac and I were it.

Here is where the story becomes a lot more Sandie-esque. JoeJoe was late - something that rarely happens- and as we waited we got more and more concerned. JoeJoe's Harley has a Bluetooth phone, so first I tried to call, then Sam. Nothing. Nada. Just voicemail. By that time we were getting very concerned . Mac and I start setting up some cones when JoeJoe pulled up, he had started a bit late. Here is the Twilight Zone moment, JoeJoe swears he called Sam and I, nope not us. It seems he talked to a man and women on separate phone calls explaining his lateness. They seemed to understand and talked with JoeJoe, trouble was it definitely was not Sam and I that he talked to. JoeJoe said the guy he talked to sounded a lot like Rod Sterling....

Then The Patsicle and "Where's The Beef" Jim showed up. We haven't seen Patsicle at Skills since Harley made single cylinder motorcycles. (That's a Sand Dollar exaggeration for "Very Long Time" Now pay atten, I say, PAY ATTENTION, son.) The Patsicle then goes out there and proceeds to just kill it. I mean, just gets out there and looks like JoeJoe without the scraping sounds. The world Infamous Steven W/The Hack was up to visit. Hack is a Sandie from way back. Hack happens to look at the date of manufacture on Mac's tires on his Magna and that's where '18 years' comes in. Mac's tires are 18 freakin' years old!! Yes siree bobby- 18 years. In motorcycle tire years 18 is the equivalent of 271 human years (approximately) . The only thing young about Mac's tires was any air that may have been added by Mac, you know, recently.

So, do you remember what was going on in the world 18 years ago? When Mac's tires were young, The famous "hanging chads" of the 2000 Presidential Election were in the news. The Sand Dollar Motorcycle club was the only motorcycle club to ride from the 20th century into the 21st Century (so far as we've been able to determine). It was also the year of the last flight of the Concorde. Gas was $1.26 a gallon.

The "Y2K" problem had some convinced that aircraft would fall from the sky and the entire computerized world would somehow instantly revert to the Stone Age at 12:01 a.m. on January 01, 2000. The St. Louis Rams won Super Bowl XXXIV (Just let that sink in for a second...). X-Men was playing at the movie theaters. (Yes, Marvel Comics movies have been around for a full generation - welcome to getting old.) So you can see it was a long time ago. Lesson here: look at the date of manufacture on your tires especially "bargain" tires from the interwebz. You will be shocked at just how old they can be. Oh, BTW, Tire life is about 5 years from date of manufacture stamped on the sidewall to used up. And we don't mean buy them at 5 years and spend 3 years wearing them out. Nope, Done after 5. On your sidewall there will be a 4 digit number, i.e. '4916', or '0815'. The first two digits are the week of the year and the last 2 digits are the year. So, our examples are early December of 2016 for the first one and the last week of February of 2015 in the second.

Who says we're getting too old to learn anything?

Speaking of old...Munchkin fessed up that being retired has its own pitfalls. For one "Do not turn on the TV in the morning, you won't leave the house". I can hear The Prince, Tim W muttering now, "Rookie".

We don't get to see Howard W very often at Skills and it's a shame because The Howard is a damn good bike handler. It's always a pleasure to watch Howard work the range.

Now from the 'Completely Missed the Obvious' File, Sir Robert had been at Skills, went to lunch with us and took the Two State/145 mile jaunt with us. We stopped at Wing, AL so Munchkin could fuel up, he was concerned because his fuel gauge showed only a quarter of a tank. Well they didn't have any Premium, which Harleys require. Now I'm getting a bit concerned cause the nearest premium was a bit down the road. Munchkin then checks the on-board computer and it says " Hey Buddy you have 91 miles to go before its time to walk ."While this was transpiring, someone asks Robert how his trunk project was coming along. Here was the 'obvious file' effect, that's when I (finally) noticed Robert has been riding with us all day without a trunk on his Harley. Talk about a 'Duh!' moment... Then Jim (Where's the Beef) W then decides to do the showroom hand wave in an excellent imitation of one of Bob Barker's Beauties to show the empty back of Robert's ride. Ya know, I'm startin' to see why Jim doesn't have any friends.

Clan De Spyder -Dona and Harold- were present. I figured this out because some wag in chalk wrote 'Spyder Parking only" on the pavement. I also learned, from Harold, when I made the gaffe of calling a Spyder a 'trike'. Harold explained to me, in that Spyder Rider tone, that you have Spyderys and you have Trikes and they are not in any way the same critter. So, "All trikes have three wheels, but not all three-wheelers are trikes." Got it. Boy, Sunday was a day of me missing the obvious obviously. And learning stuff gives me a headache.

I had decided to treat JoeJoe to lunch for the fine job he did for The Sandies at Skills. We had lunch at Wayne's Catfish House; I told our waitress that I would pay for the lunch of "The no ice in my water "person. Well unbeknownst to me Steven G told the waitress the same thing. Guess who got JoeJoe's lunch bill? Not Me you betcha, and I immediately informed JoeJoe my lunch invites come with a no rain check clause.

It was a fantastic day of practicing Skills, spending time on an absolutely perfect Riding day doing just that, riding. What makes a day like Sunday so perfect are the friends you get to enjoy the day with.

Some Esplainin' to Do George Engler

Will explain, no its not a typo, remember when Desi told Lucy "she had some esplaning to do"? Well, I will explain in a bit. Had 17 folks at the Meeting, 10 decided to Ride before lunch. Now for the esplaning, we had 90 minutes to kill before lunch. Well, we decided it wasn't enough time to go anywhere special. So JoeJoe said why don't we just 'Ride around"? Well 35 miles later we arrived at AJ's On The Bayou . Now this mileage was all within an area from Hwy 98 to Green Acres Rd. to Shalimar. You think we didn't make a lot of turns? But I can say with a hand on my heart that never was a U-turn made.

Almost had the Patsicle looking for a tree. In case you didn't know Patsicle has a smaller bladder than Sensei. That folks is a very small Dixie Cup of a liquid holder. The Captain was at both the Meeting and at Lunch, really looked like old times. Please don't forget about The Captain, we are his Florida family. At the Meeting NYC donated one heck of a Door Prize – Thank You John!!. Oh you want to know what it was? Well, join us at the Hav-A-Heart and all will be revealed. Jim W is no friend of poor Patsicle. As we pulled into AJ's for lunch, Jim is asking "Couldn't we ride a bit more, with bumps?", cause Jim knew that Pat was going to bust any minute. Now how's that for caring, huh? Munchkin has joined the Sandie Retiree's Cool Kids Club (SRCKC). Helen expressed her happiness 'cause the housework now falls on the Munchkin. I did not know until today in reading The Last Ride of The Year story that a group of spiders was called a 'clutter'. That explains a lot about Harold and Dona's Spyder Club. Hey, some folks say Potayto others say Potahito. You say spider I say Spyder. Steven G is never one to show up late for lunch, even though he was astride four wheels, at AJ's, Steven was. At the Meeting Robert reminded all of us that the Hav-A-Heart is only six weeks away. Also as the Flyers go out folks are going to ask "are you sure that's the right date"? Just let them know we are trying an experiment having a Poker Run on Saturday. Don't forget Door Prizes, it's time.

Something to think about from Elder Services: your hard work bought 600 meals. When you wonder if it's worth it, think about the 600 meals and what it meant to the elderly who need them. No wonder Ms. Lovejoy and Lorraine broke down when Robert presented the check. Yes being Road Boss for The Sandies is like Herding Cats. But all of you are also one giving bunch of people. I'm Proud to keep Herding for The Sandies.

The Sandie Dining-In Tuesday at Joe & Eddies, 6ish. Good food but the company while enjoyable, is few cans shy of a six pack.

Two Wheels or Four? and the Saga of Jim and the Patsicle George Engler

Let me get it out of the way quick – yes, the Sandie “Cool Kids” rode today. Get it ‘Cool’? Cold? As in, Freezing? C’mon now, you gotta admit, that’s funny right there - The ‘Cool’ Kids! (I swear, I just break me up!)

JoeJoe-the icicle or “just call me JoeJoe”, and Sir Big Frozen Ones Mac, made a grand, if icy, entrance - these Sandies, manly men both, rode motorbikes. Quite an accomplishment considering JoeJoe has been known to keep his riding jacket on in August even when off the bike. MacRocket is just a mental Scotsman and says it’s all mind over matter – if you pay it no mind, it doesn’t matter. When the subject of two wheels or four was brought up, Mac asks why anyone would try to ride two motorcycles at once?!

The rest of us, who are not worthy to be called motorcyclists, rode the four wheel variety of transportation. Well, maybe ‘not worthy’ is a little misleading, I tend to think the brighter bulbs in the Great Revolving Budweiser Sign are bright enough to realize that sometimes, you just need a heater. So, yes we rode the four wheel variety (car, not two motorcycles) but the heater worked just fine. Had lunch at the Boathouse in Valparaiso and the food was good, service was also good, very enjoyable lunch.

Of course when JoeJoe and Mac walked in and announced that they had ridden motorcycles to lunch. 15 miles. One way. Below freezing temps. Uphill. Into the wind. Well, you would have thought they had both won the Powerball, with all the fuss everyone made. For the rest of us it was, “oh yes you folks are REAL motorcyclists” and “where would you two manly gentlemen like to sit”? I was shocked Sir Mac didn’t say “out on the deck”.

I was seated, unfortunately, next to The Patsicle, which is not necessarily the best seat in the house, I can assure you. I don’t know if you have realized this but The Sand Dollar Motorcycle Club is filled with people who are ‘pickier’ eaters than a bunch of two year old kids. You hear phrases like “No Cheese except Mozzarella and make sure it comes from happily lactating free-range water buffalos”, or “Make my fries well done on the top, medium rare on the bottom.” And “No onion. Unless it’s a Vidalia, grown on the EAST side of Vidalia, GA and hand-picked by the Dali Lama and 12 virgins by the light of a full moon.” See what I mean? Would I make this up? Sandies at meal time is like a room full of two year olds with eating issues.

Then we have Sir Mac who, as a lot of folks from the United Kingdom chose to do, likes malt vinegar with his fish and chips. That is perfectly understandable. Unbeknownst to us Patsicle hates vinegar as much as Munchkin hates cheese. And as, we all know, Munchkin’s hatred for cheese of any kind is as pure and genuine as a computer geek hating on Windows. We’re talking legendary. (See previous comments about food and Sandies.)

Well, when Jim finds out about Pat’s strong aversion to vinegar, he takes Mac’s malt vinegar with its unique and powerful odor and asks Steven if he’s had a chance to smell the vinegar ? Steve says, "Why, no, I haven't - may I"? Jim responds with, "Here let me remove the cap for you." and proceeds to wave the bottle around vigorously. While all this elaborate Chip and Dale politeness was going on - (What ? No, no, no, not the 'Chippendales Male Strippers', It's Chip and Dale, the extremely polite cartoon chipmunks. I swear, it's like people's minds can't wait to take a dive toward the gutter. Sheesh.) Okay back to Pat's rapidly greening face - as Pat's desperate eyes watch the bottle being handed around, cap removed so folks could admire the "bouquet" I began to see why my seating position was a mite precarious. It was like sitting next to a three hundred pound man on an airliner in severe turbulence, and you're in the window seat. This was not going to end well for me. Finally Jim has squeezed all the misery he can from Pat, who thankfully did not need a, uh..., special airline bag . Believe me I breathed a sigh of relief.

As it is very evident no lunch or dinner with Herd Du Sandie is anything resembling normal. Oh, and gatherings at Miz Edna's are as bad if not worse. Sandie dining experiences are like watching the old Wild Kingdom with Marlin Perkins. " Jim, lets quietly observe the baby Wildebeest drinking from the lake. OH MY GOD that lion just stole that baby Wildebeest!" Yep, Sandies at food. It's not pretty.

You can experience this for yourself at the Sandie Dining-In every Tuesday at Joe and Eddies on Eglin Parkway around 6 pm.
